Nov. 5 Ninety Students Slated for Confirmation This Sunday

"Let us say what we believe."

In the Methodist tradition, so much of what we believe as a church body is taught, studied and questioned in Confirmation classes each year. White's Chapel's Confirmation for the fall semester began in August and will culminate with the Confirmation Service this Sunday, Nov. 5.

Confirmation is a step in the lifelong journey of Christian education. Confirmation classes help students to understand what it means to be a Christian and who God is. It helps students to understand God's love for us and to understand how God wants us to show our love to the world. These weekly studies help students to delve deeper and think more critically about what it means to live a Christian life.

Ninety students completed the Confirmation studies this fall. Instructors included Denise Bennett, Brenda Feeny, Logan de Groot, Floyd Joseph, Michelle Joseph, Rev. Victor Resendiz, Rev. Sam Robbins, and Rev. Joy Roberson. Classes were held each week in the Rock from 11 am. to noon. Large group time was led by a pastor or church staff or member and small group discussion time was led by parent volunteers.

FALL, FAMILY & FRIENDS

WC Kids recently sponsored a fun afternoon for family and friends of children through second grade. The families decorated pumpkins, made crafts, and enjoyed the fun of bounce houses.

Communion Offering Targets Thanksgiving Mission

As most of us look forward to our favorite Thanksgiving treats and traditions, many others may not know where their meal is coming from. In an effort to help those facing food insecurity, White's Chapel is hosting a multifaceted Thanksgiving Mission aimed to provide 350 food boxes to feed people in need within local organizations and agencies. These include O.H. Stowe Elementary, Van Zandt-Guinn Elementary, Bellaire

Elementary (our Adopt-a-Schools), Bear Creek Elementary, Grace E. Hardeman Elementary, El Buen, YoungLives and the WC Refugee Initiative.

This mission will culminate with a Super Saturday event on Nov. 18 when volunteers from our congregation will fill each box with items to feed a family of four plus a Target gift card.

One hundred percent of the monies collected today will go to this wonderful mission.

WC Men to Honor Veterans

Join us Thursday, Nov. 9

"You are very much honored and very much appreciated for all that you have done. Thank you for your courage and for putting your country first. Thank you for protecting our country, for your bravery, and for all that you do to make this country safe. Wishing you a Happy Veterans Day!"

So often we think these thoughts about our veterans, but we seldom go out of our way to say it to them. On this Veterans Day, the White's Chapel Men's Council wanted to do something special to specifically honor our veterans.

The chance to celebrate a favorite veteran is available on Thursday, Nov. 9, in Evans Hall with dinner and recognition for their service. All men of the church are cordially invited to attend and to bring their favorite veteran.

"The Men's Council wanted to create an opportunity to celebrate our veterans, especially those we see week in and week out here at our church," said Rev. Jon Reeves, Men's Ministry Pastor. "We want our veterans to know that we appreciate their service and sacrifice. What better way than to show up and let them know that we care?"

A panel of six veterans from our congregation have been invited to share

Sugar, Spice & Love

By Debbie McKellar

I must admit I'm old fashioned. I like to look through cookbooks, —meaning hard copies of cookbooks. Oh! I'm very aware of how easy it is to Google a recipe and come up with several different versions instantaneously without having to study much. I'm also aware that this saves a lot of time.

But there's nothing like going through a cookbook to look at all the possibilities of what one can do when the number of calories available for consumption is unlimited.

Different cookbooks have different appeals. Those dedicated to holidays certainly appeal to sentimentality, nostalgia, and making spirits bright. They also add ideas —much like Pinterest— for presentation. Seasonal

Angel Tree Forest Volunteers Needed

A Winter Wonderland Awaits

Earlier this week, on Nov. 1, leaders and volunteers worked together to set up this year's wintery Angel Tree Forest throughout campus. There's not just one Angel Tree to donate to though. A whole forest has taken root throughout the church so people can pick areas of ministry they are particularly passionate about.

This donation opportunity, available through Sunday, Dec. 3, allows people to participate in an experience that is unique to White's Chapel. Families and individuals are encouraged to adopt an 'angel' (either in person or online), purchase the items listed on their tag, and return the items to the church to be distributed. A typical angel tag will list the name of the individual who will receive the item(s) and the item(s) to purchase, with costs generally ranging from $25-40 per angel. The number of items on each angel tag may vary. Participants can donate to the

Ideas, Partnerships, Relationships

By Dr. John McKellar

As we continue to think about the new Methodist Collegiate Church that we are in the beginning stages of bringing to life, we wanted to share a little bit about some of the amazing mission opportunities that have come our way. One of our organizing philosophies of the congregations that will join us is a strong sense of mission: locally, regionally, and globally. We dream of partnering together to make Kingdom differences in the world. Rather than apportioning an amount for missions, each church will set its own mission budgets and will oversee the implementation of their own outreach program. Once ideas are born, though, our hope is that they will be shared with other churches that might want to get involved... but the choice to participate will always be a voluntary one.

One example of this is the new partnership we have begun in Kenya. At the beginning of the summer, we were visiting with Dr. Marty Dunbar, Senior Pastor of John Wesley Methodist Church in Houston, and he shared an exciting connection his church has had for many years with a District Superintendent in Kenya. We met with the pastor by Zoom and started sharing our dreams of working together with the John Wesley and the Kenyan Methodists. Out of those conversations, Ken and Sharon Nelson traveled with the John Wesley group to experience the ministry first-hand. During the trip, they got to know Rev. Joe Kamau, and we started dreaming of ways we could get involved. We thought we might provide an extra project: possibly a new building or providing a water well or transportation for pastors in remote, rural areas. Instead, Rev. Joe said that they needed (and had been praying for) a bus to transport children. They have a wonderful school, but there are many children who live in the streets - children whose parents do not see value in education and will not take them to school. They have dreamed of being able to go and pick these children up - beginning relationships that can transform lives: minds and hearts and souls. Our newly formed Mission Board prayed about this need and voted to help. Next week, our friends in Kenya will receive their bus - a tangible answer to prayers; their prayers and ours! I cannot begin to tell you about the joy and excitement that Rev. Joe has shared with us: it's infectious.

Out of this relationship (and that's exactly what it is), these Kenyan Methodists have decided to join us in the Methodist Collegiate Church. In fact, in a few weeks, Pastor Todd, Ken Nelson, and I will travel to Nairobi to install Rev. Joe as the first Bishop of the Methodist Collegiate Church in Africa. We are also planning two congregational trips in the summer of 2024, if you would like to see and participate in the work for yourself.

This is just one example of some incredibly exciting things we are doing in missions to share the love of Jesus with the world. Notice how it started, though: a fellow church had an idea and asked us to join them. When we forged a relationship, we asked the leaders in Kenya what they needed, and then, we simply did what we could to respond to that need!

We dream of churches that will continue to partner together, to share ideas, and to work together to share Christ's love with the world! We don't want to just send our money, but to send our lives. We want to forge relationships and friendships with people that will foster peace. That's our prayer: that each church in our connection will have this passion and look for ways to share with each other! We want to be a people guided by the wisdom of Ralph Waldo Emerson: "The purpose of life is not to be happy. It is to be useful, to be honorable, to be compassionate, to have it make some difference that you have lived and lived well."

Confirmation

A special thanks goes to the parents who committed to teaching small groups each week: Alysa Aelvoet, Nicole Anderson, Jennifer Bullock, Shannon Callies, Alison Hamilton, Matt Hince, Jason Janning, Natalie Merkord, Ashley Miller, Felicia Roberts, Chelsea Salomone, plus all those who subbed when needed.

"I didn't grow up in the Methodist Church, so I enjoyed learning more alongside our students," explained Alison Hamilton. "They asked great questions, and I hope they continue to explore their faith as they grow in relationship with God, feeling empowered by what they've learned and the tools they now have to make ethical decisions as they try to live like Christ."

The curriculum covered the Apostle's Creed, why the Bible is important, what it means to pray and worship, what it means to be a part of the church and more. Confirmation literally means "to make firm." After completing the classes students make a public profession of faith and are individually confirmed and become full members of White's Chapel. At the end of this study, students are given the opportunity to claim the name of Christian for themselves and promise to follow God's path.

"Our beliefs are always there each time we worship, and we specifically recite them each week," said Dr. Todd Renner, White's Chapel Co-Pastor. "They're there in every prayer; they exist in every reading; they lay just beneath the surface in every song. Our every act of worship is inspired by our doctrine, by our beliefs, and by our firm resolve in the goodness, grace, and redemption of God. Too often, though, we go through the motions of worship without ever truly reflecting on the power and the history of the words we say."

Confirmation gives our students the opportunity to do intentional reflection on our acts, words, and rituals.

Confirmation is offered to students in sixth - 12th grade in the fall and the spring. For students wishing to pursue spring Confirmation, classes will begin in January. Registration will open in December for the spring session.

event, volunteer to sort gifts, or deliver donated items to people in need this holiday season.

Curbside drop-off will be available at the East "Welcome" Doors by Evans Hall on select Wednesday afternoons from 4 to 6 p.m. These dates include: Nov. 8, 15 and 29. Participants will also be able to donate their items at the base of the trees in the concourse any time during regular business hours. Gift card donations will also be accepted in addition to gifts. Angel Tree Forest leaders will be available in the concourse each Sunday morning to answer questions and talk to interested volunteers.

"I've been working on [the] Angel Tree Forest in various capacities for 13 years," said Angel Tree Forest volunteer coordinator Bridget Davis. "As the forest continues to grow - no pun intended, it has become necessary to branch out much like a family tree. No longer is it six or seven people. It's now 23 leaders and many volunteers working with specific agencies. I've been recruiting and scheduling volunteers for around six or seven years."

Davis is hoping to recruit more people to help out during this year's donation event. While many dedicated volunteers have already been working to organize "angels" and create the many tags displayed on the trees, additional volunteers are needed to help sort and process gifts in preparation for delivery. Volunteers are also needed to help deliver and assist with the Wednesday Curbside Drop-off (available on select days in November). Sorting/processing gifts will primarily take place each week on Monday and Thursday.

"Those who want to volunteer can use the red and green 4x6 card with a QR Code on it to volunteer," Davis said. "It's titled Angel Tree Forest Volunteers 2023 and has simple directions. Look for them at the desks in the concourse. The QR code will lead you to the signup. There, you'll give your information, including your general availability. It's easy."

While the process to get involved is relatively simple, the attention to detail the sorting process requires is important. Davis knows that the work done on campus helps make delivery go smoothly, and it allows recipients to get exactly what they need.

"As always, accuracy is of primary importance to ensure gifts reach their correct destination," she said. "The bigger we grow, the more opportunities for mistakes.

No fear, though. Team Leads are experienced sorters and will train you and answer your questions."

A few of the volunteer leaders recently spoke about their experience working with the Angel Tree Forest.

"Volunteering at Angel Forest is one of the highlights of the holiday season for me," Bonnie Cooper said. "The positive and energetic environment at this event, and knowing the church is helping others brings a smile to the heart."

"WC Angel Tree Forest is one of my favorite Christmas traditions," Janey Bond said. "Whether shopping for Angel tree gifts with my kids, making new friends while setting up trees, experiencing the joy on recipients' faces, or standing in awe of the amazing team of Angel Tree volunteers; [the] WC Angel Tree Forest is a great witness to God at work in our community."

If you would like to get more involved in this donation event, look through the Angel Tree Forest information on campus, visit the virtual Angel Tree Forest link online, scan the volunteer QR code (available at the Involvement Desk), or talk with one of the Angel Tree Forest leaders on Sunday morning in the concourse area. For additional information about volunteering, please contact Bridget Davis at bridgetd3073@yahoo.com or Martha Reukema at mreukema@mac.com.

"We are blessed with the ability to give and serve, and we have an obligation to help others," Davis said. "It just feels right to be obedient. We are a community of workers who help others while enjoying new friendships. It's just plain fun."

Nov. 16 & 17 | 7 p.m.
Free in the Foundry

We invite you to see the talent of our seventh – ninth graders as they sing, dance and put on a spectacular show for your enjoyment. This thrilling and heartwarming coming-of-age story follows the strong-willed Moana as she sets sail across the Pacific to save her village and discover the truth about her heritage. Moana and the legendary demigod Maui embark on an epic journey of self-discovery and camaraderie as both learn to harness the power that lies within. With empowering messages of bravery and selflessness, “Moana JR.” is sure to bring out the hero within each of us.

Celebrating the rich history of Oceania and based on the beliefs and cultures of the people of the Pacific Islands, “Moana” was developed in collaboration with an Oceanic Trust – a group of anthropologists, cultural practitioners, historians, linguists, and choreographers from the Pacific Islands. The same respect and attention to detail used to develop the film was carried forward in the creation of this stage adaptation.

WC Kids Christmas Service
Saturday, Dec. 23 | 11 a.m.

The joy of Christmas with all the wiggles and giggles. Join our littlest angels, elementary students and our Rockstars as they share the true meaning of Christmas in a fun and meaningful way. Four-year-olds – kindergartners have been practicing Christmas music on Wednesday nights. It's not too late for children who would like to dress up as Mary, Joseph, angels, shepherds, animals, or kings to sign up to participate in the pageant. Wednesday night practices are from 6 to 7 p.m. in Room 7 through Nov. 15. There will be additional practices in December; info is on the registration page.

First - sixth graders may participate in our special service by singing in the WC Kids Christmas Choir. This seasonal choir continues to grow each year. Kids will be learning the music at practices in December and on their own from links we will provide.

All ages have a mandatory rehearsal on Friday, Dec. 22 at 10 a.m.

Cookbook

cookbooks are similar in that they suggest warmth and comfort in the autumn and winter, sunshine and renewal in the spring, and the leisure and laziness of summer days (dreaming of grilling outside and finding water somewhere to cool off.)

The best cookbooks though are those that appeal to our memories. They are the ones that have Nanny's biscuits, and Aunt Barbara's Coconut Cake. They have Beth's Lasagna and Mom's Pecan Pie. These are the cookbooks we bring out on special occasions—not just to take the time to create and experience those moments of the past, but to pass on stories of loved ones to the next generation and recreate those moments they were shared with us from our childhood. These family cookbooks are unique in that so many of those special recipes are in familiar handwriting, are stained and worn, and include the most important ingredient: Love.

When John's mother, Diana, was called to heaven to cook for Jesus, it was the discovery of her recipe box that made my son, Jay, grow misty eyed, and the main take away he wanted. The box was a culmination of probably three generations of women.

Second only to family cookbooks, there are church cookbooks. I am sitting here at my desk looking at one that was printed in November of 1994. It is entitled “Cooking with Spirit” and it was composed lovingly by White's Chapel United Methodist Women. The dedication by John says it all: “this book is more than just recipes. It captures a part of the history of our church and the people who make up our congregation. I want to urge you to use this book and be surrounded by the love of our church family that exists for all time...”

While perusing the cookbook, I see names of people who have come and gone— both physically and geographically. Many of the names bring a big smile to my face. First off, I remember when we decided to compile the cookbook. Secondly, I remember how optimistic we were when deciding how many to print; This was 1994, and we decided we could easily sell 800 copies! Someone somewhere has a picture of me on the floor of what is now Founders Chapel when it was in its original location: I was groveling for forgiveness because we had so many cookbooks we didn't know what to do with them all! (Evidently, we eventually sold them all but I think it took several years...)

But as I look through the pages, I see names of some of the White's Chapel saints... like Cynthia Rochelle and Mary Ann Marks, Doris Broadway Baker and Doris Hall, Patty Vaughn, Nina Walton, and Shirley Knight.

There are friends who have moved to other places and phases of their lives like Ann Cook, (who brought the first casserole to the parsonage when John and I moved here) Kathy Uldrich, Bobbi Dunbar, Karel Palmer, Betty Anderson, and Landra Dobbs.

And there are many who are still actively a part of our lives: Tracy Christensen, Annette Benbow, Rhonda Chambers, Gail Ackerman, Sandy Westmoreland, Linda Evans, Debbie Ulatoski (who I think is the person who has that picture of me groveling), Donna Stengel, Jelynn Hall, Jeanne Ellermeyer, Gail Jacobson, Sandy Rhone, Evon Bair, Elaine Light, Jane Robertson, Linda Drilling, Karen Hodges, Barbara Stacy, Debbie Heldorn, Randi Arnold.

The memories evoked when I glance through these pages are not really of food; they are of smiles and laughter, tears and hugs, prayers and friendship.

As the holidays approach, I hope you will take the time to go through some of those old cookbooks, both personal and communal. I hope you will share stories of your childhood and your friendships and of those you have loved and who have loved you.

After all, if you don't revisit the good, the bad, and the sometimes unfortunate... it won't really be the holidays. Enjoy!

The Mobile Market is a wonderful complement to WC's mission-oriented ministries and offerings at O.H. Stowe Elementary, which include tutoring for students and child food security program over weekends. If you have a passion for helping provide food to those in need, there are several opportunities where you can help. Sign up online on the church's website, or contact Jim Niewald at jimniewald@yahoo.com.

Angels' Attic Distributes Money

Angels' Attic, the church's upscale resale shop in Grapevine, has just completed allocation of their 3rd quarter funding. Combined with the 4th quarter, 2022 amount, and the first three quarters in 2023, the store has provided $392,400 to White's Chapel missions and local, national, and international ministries.

In addition, Angels' Attic was just featured in a new community magazine, City Lifestyle-Southlake, in the "Giving Back" section.

A volunteer-run mission ministry of White's Chapel Methodist, Angels' Attic's goal is to support charities worldwide and at home. They are located at 1250 William D. Tate in Grapevine. Donations of goods are always welcome. (817) 251-9451
